OUR ARMY OF OCCUPATION.

In 1861 the North began to invade the South with hostile armies. Strangely mingled with the aim and outcome of this invasion was the Negro. After four years of bloody war, the end was reached—the Union was saved, and the fetters were knocked off from the bodies of four millions of slaves.

Along with these hostile invaders, there came another army, small in numbers, and impelled likewise to aid the Negro, to instruct and uplift, or in other words, to break the fetters which ignorance and vice had fastened upon his soul. These were not armed with deadly weapons, but with the spelling-book and the Bible. They followed the movements of the armies as the rainbow follows the black cloud. Many of those who started early are still in the ranks rejoicing to see the good results of their efforts. Many have finished their course and have gone to their reward, embalmed in the tears and gratitude of the race they have benefited. During the dark days of Ku Klux outrages, these peaceful workers encountered enmity and danger, but they fearlessly toiled on, and though still encountering prejudice and ostracism, they are happy in their work, and have won the respect even of those who hold aloof from them. New recruits have joined their ranks from time to time, and the work goes bravely on. They need and they deserve the sympathy and the prayers of all who love our Lord Jesus Christ, and who feel like honoring him in the person of the least of his disciples.

MISS LAURA A. PARMELEE.

As stated in the article above, some of the older and most efficient of our workers are passing to their reward. In the January number of the MISSIONARY we chronicled the death of Miss Julia C. Andrews, one of our most consecrated missionaries, and now we are called upon to announce the death of Miss Laura A. Parmelee, who died at her post in Fisk University, January 14th.

Miss Parmelee entered the service of the Association in 1867, and spent several years at Andersonville, Ga., the location of the deadly prison so fatal to many of our soldiers. She remained there through the dreadful Ku Klux days, not merely under ostracism but in danger. With calm courage, and with reliance upon the blessing of God, she and her fellow teachers continued their faithful and useful work. Miss Parmelee subsequently spent a year in Straight University, New Orleans, seven years in Le Moyne Institute, Memphis, and eleven years in Fisk University, and in every place she has left a memory honored and revered.

Miss Parmelee had left a home of refinement and wealth to consecrate herself to the work of the Master in this her chosen field. She had in her own name a property which enabled her to live free from care, and yet she chose to live and die in the South, working for the enlightenment of the ignorant and degraded.

Appropriate services were held in the chapel of the Fisk University, which was crowded with those who desired to pay their last tribute of love to the memory of Miss Parmelee. The services were conducted by Prof. H. S. Bennett, pastor of the University Church, and sympathetic and appreciative addresses were delivered by President Cravath, Rev. Dr. Beard, Secretary of the American Missionary Association, and Dr. F. A. Stewart, a graduate of the University, who spoke for the alumni and students. Prof. Spence reported a series of resolutions, expressive of the high appreciation in which Miss Parmelee was held by the Faculty.

An unostentatious and consecrated life has thus closed on the scene of its activities, and amid the people to whose service it was devoted.

FINANCIAL.

We are gratified to be able to report that the receipts from donations for the first quarter of the fiscal year are $6,559.96 in advance of the corresponding period last year. We hail this as a good beginning of our new year, and hope that the favorable showing will increase largely as the year rolls on. The stable support of a missionary society must always be in the gifts of its living friends. This fact is emphasized to us by the decrease in the receipts from legacies, during this quarter, of $22,428.42. Should this ratio continue, a debt at the end of the year would be inevitable. For four years past, we have escaped without a debt, but it has been largely due to legacies. We appeal to our constituents who cherish the work in which we are engaged to come individually to the rescue and save it from curtailment or the embarrassment of a debt.

THE BOARD OF INDIAN COMMISSIONERS.

The twenty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Board of Indian Commissioners was held in the Riggs House, at Washington, D. C., January 12th. A majority of the members was present, but the absence of Dr. Gates, the President of the Board, on account of sickness in his family, was greatly regretted, and a telegram, expressing the sympathy of the meeting, was forwarded to him. About sixty visitors, composed of representatives of missionary bodies and other friends of the Indian were welcomed by the Board. Senator Dawes, whose invaluable services in behalf of the Indian, and whose frequent presence, and whose wise counsels, in these gatherings at the Riggs House, have been always so highly prized, was in attendance. His address on this occasion was as replete with wisdom and fine touches of humor as ever.

Topics of much interest were discussed, and a platform was adopted, looking to the extension of civil service rules to appointments for Indian service, obligatory education, the bringing of the Indians to self-support, and other topics of pressing importance. A committee was appointed by the chair to convey to the President-elect a copy of the platform, and to present to him an expression of the earnest desire that he will appoint such a Commissioner of Indian Affairs as will carry on the Indian Office in the spirit and along the lines therein suggested, so that even greater proficiency may be made during his term of office. The Committee are :

Rev. Dr. McVicar, Baptist ; Rev. Dr. Strieby, Congregationalist ; Rev. Dr. Roberts, Presbyterian ; Rev. Dr. Leonard, Methodist ; Rev. Dr. Langford, Episcopal ; James Wood, Friends ; Rev. Dr. King, National League ; Rev. Dr. A. B. Shelby, Mennonite ; J. Taylor Hamilton, Moravian ; Rev. Francis Tiffany, Unitarian ; Mrs. Quinton, Mrs. Plummer, Mrs. Elliott, Dr. Lyman Abbott and Dr. W. H. Ward.

Dr. Sheldon Jackson was present and gave interesting and valuable information respecting schools and missions in Alaska, and especially in regard to the bringing in of reindeer as an absolutely necessary food supply for the inhabitants of that frozen region.

AN OLD ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY.

The oldest anti-slavery society in the United States was founded in Philadelphia, in 1774—the Pennsylvania Abolition Society. It was intended at first for the relief of free Negroes unlawfully held in bondage. During the first years of its existence, it was eminently successful in its operations, but the breaking out of the war of the Revolution diverted public attention. In 1787 it revised its constitution, enlarged both its name and range of effort, and became the “Pennsylvania Society for promoting the abolition of slavery, the relief of free Negroes unlawfully held in bondage, and for improving the condition of the African race.”

Benjamin Franklin was made its President. Among its first acts was the distribution of copies of its constitution, and the act for the gradual abolition of slavery in Pennsylvania to the governors of the several States. It also opened correspondence with eminent men in the United States, England and France. It worked vigorously for the abolition of the slave-trade, and in every feasible way sought to promote the objects of its organization. When the new movement under Garrison and others came forward, this Society gracefully relinquished the lead without abating its own efforts.

It was the privilege of the writer of this article to attend a meeting of this Society, held in connection with a gathering of old abolitionists, to celebrate the anniversary of emancipation held in Association Hall, Philadelphia, January 3d. It was gratifying to find that the old abolitionists present were not bent simply on celebrating their former trials and achievements, but were fully awake to the importance of the second emancipation of the Negro from ignorance and vice. Representatives of different organizations and institutions having this end in view, were heard with approbation, and the report of the treasurer showed that it still continued to raise and distribute funds in aid of the colored people. Its President is William Still, the author of a very interesting volume entitled, "The Underground Railroad." Many of those who were present were Quakers.

SUCCESSFUL COLORED PEOPLE.

SLAVE, STUDENT, LEGISLATOR, LAWYER.

Mr. M—— was born a slave and reared on a farm. He stealthily learned his letters from the white girls to whose parents he belonged. At the close of the war he was practically left to his own resources. He knew very little of parental care, and like Topsy, he "grewed." The first school that he attended was a nine months' one, but as he had to maintain himself on a farm he could go only three months in the year. However, by studying late at night in spite of a hard day's work on the farm, he kept his class standing, and was promoted with the others.

A paper, edited by Frederick Douglass, falling into his hands, inspired him with an intense desire to get an education. Being without the necessary money to carry him to a school like Fisk University at Nashville, he tried to raise it by selling charts, family Bibles and medicines. Failing in this, he put himself under a private tutor. Mr. M—— lived in the country, and walked ten miles two nights in the week to recite to a friendly student in Vanderbilt University. Through this student he was brought to the notice of professors in Fisk, and induced to come there. He kept himself in school by selling, during the summer, charts, maps and pictures. Fearful lest his summer's earnings would not be enough to return him to school, he often slept like a tramp in hay-stacks and barns in order that he might save the money that he would otherwise have to spend for a decent night's lodging. At one time he walked from St. Louis to Hopkinsville, Ky. It was only by practicing such rigid economy as this that he could hope to go through college.

At the beginning of his freshman year Mr. M—— had only six dollars, and was without books and clothes. He clothed himself by working afternoons after school. By the time that he had reached his senior year, he had so impressed the people of his county with his grit and sterling worth that they decided to run him for the Legislature. There were three white contestants in the field, but the county was so solidly for the Negro that two weeks before the election they withdrew from the contest, and he was elected without opposition, elected to the Legislature before graduating from college. He was elected for six years in succession, the last time beating an opponent by eight hundred majority. He was once nominated for Speaker of the House, and received every Republican vote.

During his stay in the Legislature he introduced and secured the passage of bills, appropriating $6,000 for the education of colored normal students ; $11,500 for the colored deaf and dumb school, and $85,000 for the West Tennessee insane asylum. By personal appeal to the presidents of our railroads, he also secured for his people the privilege of riding in first-class cars. This custom prevailed until the recent separate car law.

Mr. M——'s first address on the floor of our Legislature was pronounced by the Democratic press of this city one of the best speeches ever delivered in the House. He has recently devoted himself entirely to the practice of law, and is very successful. During 1891, a client of his was given a life-time sentence. He took an appeal and reduced it to twenty-one years. Not easily discouraged he took another appeal, and reduced his client's sentence to one day in jail. The white papers of the city were effusive in complimenting the "able defense," the "legal acumen," the "adroit skill," and the "surprising eloquence" of one who but a few years ago was a poor slave, struggling hard, and going through many privations to get an education.

THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS AT BALLARD SCHOOL.

THANKSGIVING.

A few days before Thanksgiving, an appeal was made to the students in all the rooms to give something in aid of some very poor but deserving persons, as an offering to Almighty God for all His mercies during the past year. They were told of some cases of extreme destitution ; among them that of a woman who, deserted by a wicked husband, had been found weeping in the streets because she could not supply her five little children with food ; of another woman who paralyzed in one arm, was striving to earn her living by working with one hand and arm. It was beautiful to see the ready response to the appeal manifested in glistening eyes and upraised hands. Some of these children have known what it is to be hungry themselves when there was no food in the home cupboard. Each one was asked to bring whatever he could, be it ever so small—a piece of coal, a stick of wood, a potato. Some of the boarding girl students asked permission to earn each a big sweet potato for a gift, and the request was gladly granted. On Thanksgiving morning, with faces glowing with quiet enthusiasm, in the students trooped, hundreds of them bringing gifts to be deposited on the platforms of their respective class rooms. A genuine esprit du corps took possession of them, and a generous strife was shown as to which class should bring the most gifts.

The dignified high school students appointed a committee to meet in the office after school to decide as to division and disposal of the gifts. Boys from the lower rooms brought their little express wagons to carry them to their destination. At 2:45, in came the packages from the various classrooms, and the office was transformed into a busy grocery. With mirth and with hearty zeal the committee worked, dividing the gifts, groceries, fruit, vegetables, clothing and toys, while two or three teachers in the background aided with suggestions and otherwise. The little tin can for the money was found to be nearly full, $6.84 in all, and the grocer was twice despatched to bring more meat, etc. What joy it was to see the boys' little express wagons roll out from the office into the hall laden with coal, wood, potatoes and other things. The small individual gifts made, in the aggregate, several such loads, and some students gave gifts of appreciable value, so that a bountiful provision was made to each of five needy families.

Pleasant was it too, to watch the grave, eager faces of little urchins who, attended by older pupils, were honored with the responsibility of conveying the gifts to the appointed families. Finally, a drayman, accompanied by a high-school student and others, took the residue of the bounty. When the pupils the following Friday were told that the hungry children jumped for joy at sight of food, and the older recipients sent hearty and tearful thanks, and when they were asked if they had not found it as pleasant to bestow gifts as to receive them, all raised hands, and one little fellow shouted, "Yes, more pleasant!" One boy said, "Can't we do the same thing again Christmas?" Of course, a glad consent was given, and again were contributions made. These were given to swell the amount raised by the King's Daughters, over $20 in all, to the twenty-five needy families whose cases they had investigated.

CHRISTMAS.

Notable were the gifts at Christmas from the wee tots in room No. 1, and it was a very pretty thing to see them come up shyly to the office to bring their nice, well-preserved last year's toys, and their packages of fresh candy and fruit, which told of a real and present sacrifice, testifying their gratitude for the great gift made by the Father when the Infant Jesus came into the world. In the afternoon of Dec. 23d, before the boarding girl students left for their homes, they went in a glad procession to the houses of two worthy poor women, bearing with them the gifts which they had earned to give them. Here they sang songs to cheer, and the eldest of the girls made a brief address and presented their offerings, which were received with warm thanks and tears of joy.

In the evening in the parlor of Teachers' Home, the teachers gave a little entertainment to the pupils consistings of songs, readings, charades, etc., and at the close many presents from Northern friends of the school and from the teachers were distributed among the students. Then, at a signal, they quietly filed out, and the hum of teachers' voices was hushed a moment later, to listen to a sweet serenade rendered by these happy youths.

FIELD NOTES.

BY REV. G. W. MOORE.

The field missionary held a ten days' series of evangelistic services at Charleston, S. C. Over one hundred students of Avery Institute confessed Christ, and quite a number at Plymouth Church. The pastor, Rev. Geo. C. Rowe, and the principal, Prof. M. A. Holmes, and the teachers of Avery entered heartily into the services. Rev. L. B. Maxwell, of Savannah, Ga., also assisted in the meetings.

There were also nineteen conversions at Dorchester Academy, McIntosh, Ga. Prof. Foster and Pastor Sims and the teachers at McIntosh are doing good service in this country district. The community is composed entirely of colored people, and is known as the Black Belt of Georgia.

Our church and school at Thomasville, Ga., held a union Thanksgiving service in the morning with the Methodist and Baptist churches, and in the evening a praise and testimony meeting in the chapel adjoining the school. Rev. and Mrs. Sargent and the teachers testify to the missionary spirit of the students. One girl organized a Y. P. S. C. E., and held meetings in a country district where she was teaching. Pastor McLean, of Macon, Ga., gave the church and school a glowing report of the Hartford meeting. Rev. Geo. V. Clark has served as pastor of the church at Athens, Ga., twelve years. Prof. Clark, the principal of our school at Athens, still pleads for a library for his school.

The church and congregation at Chattanooga gave their earnings of November 30 as a special offering to the church. It was inspiring to note the spirit in which they entered into the work of the day in their endeavor to make it yield as much as possible for the church. Rev. J. E. Smith has served this church as pastor fourteen years. It assumed self-support the past year.

The church and school at Memphis, Tenn., are rejoicing in a season of "refreshing." A large number of the students of Le Moyne Institute are rejoicing in the joy of salvation, and the church has been greatly quickened.

Rev. R. B. Johns held a two weeks' series of revival services with the church and school. Rev. B. A. Imes having served as pastor of the church twelve years resigned in October.

MISSIONARY WORK OF KING'S DAUGHTERS.

MRS. H. I. MILLER, MERIDIAN, MISS.

I can not fail to report a little effort at missionary work in our King's Daughters' Society. In the society we have about fifty young girls, and their meetings are very profitable, in which are discussed such topics as "politeness," "sincerity," "purity," and others of equal importance. It was proposed that an effort should be made to render some help, to some one, poorer than ourselves. It was easy to find objects of charity, and, on the day before Thanksgiving, an abundance of substantial food was brought in in little parcels, sometimes one sweet potato, or, one or two large yams, a package of rice, a little meal, etc. But "mony a mickle makes a muckle," and several large baskets were well filled and sent out on Thanksgiving eve. The amusing part was to hear the reports of those who delivered the baskets, "The goodest little honeys," "May de Lawd bress ye," and all manner of provincial thanks. It was an active lesson in doing good "to the least of these," and will long be remembered by the scholars. Last Sunday our Y. P. S. C. E. had a missionary meeting, and the topic was "Africa."

We had a very enthusiastic meeting, one hundred and sixty were present and a little contribution was taken up for Nannie Jones, a Mississippi colored girl who is at Inhambane, East Central Africa, sent out by the American Board.

It did seem that we could see the dawn of better things, the disappearance of shadows of ignorance and the light of the Sun of Righteousness.

THE Y. P. S. C. E. IN THE SOUTH.

BY REV. JOS. E. ROY, D.D.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of Rev. Dr. F. A. Noble's Union Park Congregational Church of Chicago has just sent forward a new piano to the music room of the Tougaloo University. These young people deserve much credit for the largeness of their benefaction, for the judiciousness of their selection of their gift for a musical body of pupils, and for their turning to the lowly poor. They will be glad to know that our young people in the South are taking to themselves the Y. P. S. C. E. organizations, and in them are doing just the same kind of work that their confreres are doing in the North. Of fifty-six churches and institutions inquired of, forty-six reported that they had the Y. P. S. C. E. in full action. Our two colored churches in Washington, D. C., have each a junior and senior society, ranging in numbers from sixty-five to one hundred and fifteen. Besides devotional services and Bible study they engage in outside missionary work, in caring for the poor and the sick. Our Santee Agency school has also an active Y. P. S. C. E. Surely, as Dr. Schaff says, this new society is producing an era in modern church history.

NEEDS OF THE INDIAN HOME.

The first need is the home. The houses in which the Indians live can scarcely be called by that name. Since the roving life has been given up and the Indians have settled, or have been settled, on reservations, the tent has given place to the log house, a small sod-roofed, floorless hut with one or two dirty windows. In the center of the room is the stove, nearly red hot. Arranged around the sides are several bedsteads, boxes, trunks and parcels of all descriptions. On the walls hang all the clothes that the family are not wearing, together with any pictures that may have strayed here. On one side a box may be nailed to the wall which does duty for a cupboard. The windows have no curtains for there are always more people inside than out.

In one corner of the room a little tent or covering is often seen which makes a cozy place for a family of puppies. Near by, the ration of meat is piled on the floor and covered with a dirty blanket. In summer the meat will be dried in the sun, but in the winter it is kept in the house. When there is any food on hand the meals are prepared with some regularity. The coffee pot and the soup kettle are never taken from the stove as long as the coffee and meat last. Coffee, meat, and bread are the principal articles of food.

At night each person takes his blanket and pillow (if he has one) and curls up in his own corner on the floor, if he has no bed. If a guest comes along, he of course will keep his blanket around him and be thankful for floor space whether there are beds or not. Instead of undressing and going to bed, each person rolls up in a blanket, one corner drawn tightly over the head, and lays him down to pleasant dreams.

The air in these houses, day and night, can hardly be imagined by those who have never visited them. It is vile in the day time, but the frequent passing in and out of the door admits some oxygen. But at night the atmosphere is nothing but poison. Pack eight or ten people together in a small room for an hour and you soon notice the empooverished condition of the air, where the people and room are comparatively clean. But think of the awful consequences of a room full of people sleeping in garments worn for weeks; whose persons are seldom or never bathed; the bedding stiff with grease and dirt; and walls that have never been washed. Then heat this air to 80° and you have a combination that makes one wonder how any Indian ever lives. Besides all this, a large per cent. of the Indians are constipative and add their disease-laden breath to the stench in the room.

Can we bring these women to realize what that word home really means? Can we teach them the need of soap and water and fresh air? So much oxygen furnished on our wide wind swept prairies, still the lungs of these poor people are starving for it.

Is there anything that an Indian home does not need to make it what it should be?—From the Word-Carrier.

ITEMS.

A season of great religious interest is now enjoyed at Orange Park, Fla. Over forty of our young people have openly acknowledged their purpose to follow the Saviour.

The first prize for the best entrance examination to Chicago University during December was taken by a colored young lady, a triumph for co-education and for a rising race at which we rejoice.—The Advance.

NEGRO WORDS OF WISDOM.

"If yer sets down and asks the Lord to help yer, yer jess gets leff be hine—got to keep a inchin. Jess as I tells yer Miss, got to keep a inchin." (And then he inched by charging twenty cents for a pumpkin worth only ten.)

A colored preacher in one of his flights of fancy said: "You can no more stop the progress of God's truth than you can soar aloft and wipe out the whole solar system with a feather of the jay-bird."

SANTEE AGENCY, NEB.

We have a nephew of Sitting Bull here. He was an interesting specimen when he came, looked as though he had never been comfortable in his life. His hair was long and partly covered his face. His clothes hung on him any way. From his miserable, dirty, broad, felt hat, tied under his chin with a leather string, to his torn moccasins, there seemed to be little hope of doing much with him. That was in the middle of October. Now (December) he wears his hair pompadour, and came to me in distress to-day because about three inches of the hem on his windsor tie had unraveled. His highest ambition is to learn to read the Dakota Bible. He will succeed too.

GRAND VIEW, TENN.

Perhaps some one may be pleased to hear of our "children's meetings" which are held every Sabbath afternoon in the church. The children are very much interested. Though the weather has been unpleasant, with the exception of one afternoon, ever since they began, still the attendance has been good. The first Sabbath there were twenty-three present, some of the little girls walking over three miles. They all promised to do what they could to double the number the next week, and I believe almost every one has brought one at some time, though we have not had forty-six at one time (owing to the weather). One little girl who is boarding here said she didn't know any one to bring, but finally, after much persuading, induced one of the larger girls to come, who enjoyed it so much that she always attended until this term when she could not return to school. They are much interested this week in earning pennies to send away to help other children who have no meetings.

We pray that the Lord may increase our number, and give to us more and more of His blessed power to do the best for these dear children.

THE COLLEGE COURT—TALLADEGA COLLEGE.

Naturally in a school like this, where many pupils come from neglected homes, there are many cases of minor improprieties, often hard to detect, and, if proved, not demanding severe penalties, yet always reprehensible and worthy of most effective discouragement. They should be disallowed and put down, and by vigorous public sentiment rather than by the terrors of law.

To meet such cases it was suggested about six years ago to some of the oldest and most thoughtful of the students, that they organize a court in due form, with judge, sheriff, detective, solicitor and jury; that they hear complaints and duly adjudicate the case brought before them, it being understood that all their proceedings were to be orderly, the accused to have capable defense, and that no severe penalty should be inflicted without the approval of the college president. As a help in these duties a copy of the Code of Alabama was provided, and naturally the court became not only readers of the law and students of ethics, but also had a new interest in observing judicial proceedings.

Their instructions may have been vague, and the character of the causes they were to try not very well defined; but the court entered upon its duty with alacrity and with wisdom too. First and last the original court and its successors have tried cases not a few. It is believed that in propriety and in equity the college court would compare well with the regular tribunals of the region. It has been keen to detect and wise in punishing many minor disorders, and while it has been a potent force in maintaining good order in our college community, it has been a valuable training school to some who may need to exercise similar functions in other spheres. Our judges have never been suspected of taking bribes; our detectives have never been partners in vice, nor has one jury ever been "packed" or "hung." A blessing on the Talladega college court! May it live till it falls into "innocuous desuetude" from having nothing to do.—Our Work.
